

BABEL SKY

Lounge Power Music

Babel Sky and Mallorca

Babel Sky is a natural response to its surroundings – their music is deeply inspired by the island of Mallorca.

It's a celebration of the beauty that embraces us.

At a Babel Sky concert, you'll experience:

- Live Chill Out and World Music performances.
- Traditional instruments from around the globe.
- Contemporary reinterpretations of 80s and 90s classics, enriched with modern electronic textures.
- Live looping and real-time soundscapes crafted from acoustic and electronic instruments.

[illegible]

Babel Sky's sound is born from a constant exploration of sonic diversity, blending instruments from across the world – some with millennia of history, others newly invented.

Our Albums (Available on CD, Spotify, and all major streaming platforms)

Babel Sky's music comes to life in the albums Last Day on the Beach (2013), Blue Dance (2018), and Transoceánico (2025) – each one reflecting our ongoing desire to explore diverse musical languages and soundscapes.

What the media have said about our music:

Última Hora: "Curious, restless, and adventurous, Alejandro Blasi and Diego Blanco are the two vital elements on which Babel Sky stands – a true musical laboratory, a project constantly nourished by Mediterranean breezes. In their exquisite album Last Day on the Beach, their journey through world music and electronic sounds becomes beautifully evident."

Diario de Mallorca: "Babel Sky is an amalgam of sounds – a harmonious fusion of traditional folklore with new textures and sonic experiments, reminiscent of Café del Mar sessions."

Diario de Menorca: "Blue dance is an impressive album. A fascinating sound that blends ancient instruments with modern technology."

L'Observador: "The members of Babel Sky master various musical languages. Multi-instrumentalists and composers, the Diego-Alejandro duo give a distinctive character to a type of music that could well be labeled as World Music."

Musicópolis: "Relaxation through the beauty conveyed by compositions full of sincerity and a deep love for music."

Goetia: "The production is simply sublime. The transitions between songs flow naturally, making the album feel shorter than its nearly one-hour length. Relaxing passages evoke moonlit nights on the beach, turning Last Day on the Beach into a perfectly accomplished work whose purpose is clear: to connect us with the most spiritual side of music."

Planeta Musical: "A remarkable and essential duo within Mallorca's current music scene. Babel Sky is an Eclectic World Music duo blending ethnic and contemporary elements. Last Day on the Beach is an album of outstanding quality."

MetalCry: "Babel Sky's music could be described as New Age, Ambient, or World Music, clearly influenced by Mike Oldfield. Their evocative sounds transport us to landscapes filled with peace and harmony, creating calm and relaxing atmospheres born from diversity and the blending of sounds."

The Drink Team: "The fourteen instrumental tracks of this album are designed to relax and transmit calm through a variety of sounds. An hour of music that flies by – especially when you immerse yourself in it – thanks to brilliant production and a constant, organic flow."

La Mirada Negra: "If you come home tired, or simply wish to breathe peace for a moment, here is a work you can listen to with your eyes closed, letting your imagination fly. A special piece meant to reach your inner world – to make you feel calm, breathe clean air, and let emotions surface as the music flows through you."

Alquimia Sonora: "Fourteen tracks make up this self-produced gem, with meticulous arrangements. Ambient music enriched by wind instruments that drift throughout the songs, giving them sublime beauty. We loved it."
